Description

You are bidding on a cursed copy of Parasite Eve for the Sony Playstation! I bought it last week and began to play, not suspecting that in the SoHo Sewer level lies the Gateway to Hell - literally! This possessed CD-ROM isn't just virtual reality, it's Actual Supernaturality! It's out of control!

The plot of this game is supposed to be about parasites or some such garbage, to teach little kids about bacteria, cells, mitochondria and all that micro-bio-scio-edu-trash.

Phooey! My copy, however, turned out to be actually infected with a kind of computer virus that I've never heard of before. Five minutes into the game, my entire block burst into flames.

Not only this, but when I went to throw into the inferno, it bounced back and latched on to my face causing deep scarring and tissue damage.

Woha Nelly! My own video game is sending me subliminal messages!

Being the brilliant person I am, I thought efficiently past lame explanations - This thing was the devil come to haunt me! What else was I to do?

I quickly formed a cross out of nearby materials. I poked at the demon game with the cross, but it was to no avail. The monster then devoured my Palm Pilot and drank my glass of milk.

Hot diggity! Then this bad mother had the nerve to infest my 30' flat screen TV.

And that was it... I took out that sucker. Nobody messes with my TV.

Unfortunately, this techno-biological CD junk is still thriving in my drawer, which is currently rattling and blubbering.

HAVE YOU NO MERCY??!?!?! Take this off my hands before it kills me. Heh heh heh heh heh.

I accept Paypal and MO but mainly prefer the bartering system. Shipping will be in the neighborhood of $5.
